DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 13-49, drawn to compositions comprising one or more detergent surfactants having an HLB value of higher than 15, classified in class 510, subclass 119.
- II. Claim 50, drawn to a method of treat or prophylaxis of inflammatory skin conditions, classified in class 514, subclass 887.
- III. Claim 51, drawn to a method of protecting sensitive and dry skin, classified in class 514, subclass 861.

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case, there are other methods of treatment for skin inflammation, such applying an ointment or gel comprising a corticosteroid. See US 4343798, directed to topical antimicrobial anti-inflammatory compositions. Alternatively, the inventions are distinct because the composition of group I is used to cleanse skin, scalp, or hair, which is a materially different use from the claimed invention of group II. See instant claim 48 is directed to a hair shampoo composition.

Inventions II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case, there are other methods of protection for dry or sensitive skin, such as applying skin barrier compositions comprising ceramides or derivatives. See Poucher's Perfumes, Cosmetics and Soaps, p. 446, Protective products. Alternatively, the inventions are distinct because the composition of group I is used to cleanse skin, scalp, or hair, which is a materially different use from the claimed invention of group III. See instant claim 48 is directed to a hair shampoo composition.

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the skin inflammation can occur by causes that are unrelated to dry or sensitive skin, such as bacterial or fungal infection, etc, and a treatment of skin inflammation does not necessarily protect dry or sensitive skin.

These inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons above, and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required. Because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification and recognized divergent subject matter, examination of all of the presented claims requires different field of search. Thus restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed.

Claims 1 and 21 are generic to the following disclosed patentably distinct species: (1) detergent surfactant which has an HLB value of higher than 15. The species of dependent claims are independent or distinct because these surfactants are chemically different, and have different ionic charge and HLB values (higher than 25 or 35, as separately claimed in claims 14, 15, and 37). Applicants are required to elect one single species (i.e., compound) of detergent surfactant species having an HLB value of higher than 15.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.
MPEP § 809.02(a).

A telephone call was made to Heribert Muensterer on January 10, 2007 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species and an invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Gina C. Yu whose telephone number is 571-272-8605. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday through Friday, from 8:00AM until 5:30 PM.
